Care About What God Cares About

Over the years I've learned quite a few lessons, one is that running a men shelter is not black and white, it's very grey. It being gray means that you spend a lot of time talking with God to try to understand what his plan is for every new man that comes here, one shoe doesn't fit all. The damages that have been done are very different with each man. But I do realize that everybody that comes to the shelter was brought there by God. And so, it is He that I search for the answers of how to deal with the men that He has sent me. I've learned over the years that everyone is searching for something and they have been trying to find it in places that are not going to give them what they need. For the most part they want to feel loved and they want to feel peace. These things are freely given to those who seek Him.

In the Hopper

Well as the thoughts of spring approaches I've started to think about pruning the Apple Trees. We have a Golden Delicious and a Red Delicious and I think this year we will have a better crop than last year. We are going to plant a couple of BlackBerry Bushes and also a Vegetable Garden this year to give the guys an opportunity to have something to nurture and as always, we have spring cleaning and some minor repairs that we will be doing inside the shelter and a little bit of repair work on the outside. Hopefully will be able to redo the canopy over the carport I'm also going to be working on scheduling some Speaking engagements to help the community get a clearer picture of what we are and what we do.
